Dasara High Power Committee meeting in Mysuru next week

Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa to chair the meeting; To discuss celebrations with local elected representatives, officers

Mysuru, Sept. 2 (KMS&BCT)- The Dasara High Power Committee meeting will be held in Mysuru next week instead of the usual Bengaluru location. Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa will chair the meeting and a communiqué in this regard has been released from the Chief Minister's Office. The date of the meeting will be communicated later based on the CM's schedule.

As per the communiqué from the CM's Office, it will be a simple but traditional Dasara without giving the age-old traditions a miss even due to COVID-19. Modalities of the celebrations will be decided at the meeting.

Usually, the district-level Dasara Committee meeting would be held in Mysuru first and a proposal would be sent to the Dasara High Power Committee which meets every year in Bengaluru. The proposals sent by the District Committee is approved or modified in Bengaluru meeting.

CM B.S. Yediyurappa

This year, however, the Mysuru District Administration has already conveyed to the Government that the District Dasara Committee has not met so far due to the pandemic and the district authorities were awaiting clear-cut directions from the Government on the conduct of the festival that is just a month away.

The CM's Office has communicated that Yediyurappa's meeting will be held with local elected representatives and officers of Mysuru including MLAs, and MP, Deputy Commissioner, City Police Commissioner, Superintendent of Police, Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner, Mysuru Urban Developmental Authority Chairman and Commissioner and other departmental officers who have innate knowledge of celebrating Dasara, albeit in a low key manner.

Meeting to decide on holding spectacular Torchlight Parade

Even the budget for the 10-day festival will be decided at the meeting along with other civic works that will have to be undertaken for the event. There are talks doing the rounds that the Government wants to avoid crowds in view of the pandemic and as such the Vijayadashami procession might be confined to Mysore Palace itself instead of a procession till Torchlight Parade Grounds. The meeting will also take a call on the conduct of Torchlight Parade.

The High Power Committee meeting will be attended by Mysuru and Chamarajanagar District Ministers S.T. Somashekar and S. Suresh Kumar, Kannada and Culture and Tourism Minister C.T. Ravi and Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai. Communication has already been sent to all the elected representatives and officers to be a part of the meeting. The name of the guest who will inaugurate Dasara will also be finalised at the meeting.

This year, Navaratri begins on Oct. 17 and Vijayadashami falls on Oct. 26. According to astrologers, usually, the Ashwija month should start after Mahalaya Amavasya (Sept. 17). But in view of calendar correction, an Adhika (additional) Ashwija Masa (month) is added, up to Oct. 16. This correction is done once in three years. This time, it is the turn of Ashwija Masa.

Tax defaulters warned of property seizure

Deadline of MCC Property Tax payment without 2 percent penalty ends on Oct. 31

Citizens remitting property tax at MCC Zonal Office-6 today.

Mysuru, Sept. 2 (RK&BCT)- Property Tax collection including the dues of 2019-2020 amidst COVID-19 has become a headache for Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) that has now warned residents that their properties would be seized if they do not pay up the taxes within the next 30 days starting today (Sept. 2).

In a notice published in today's newspapers signed by MCC Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde stated that in the tax year 2019-2020, over 78,569 property owners have not paid their taxes despite giving five percent rebate and issuing notices and also giving time till March this year. Similarly, for the tax year 2020-2021, only 81,000 people have remitted their taxes with 1,02,000 property owners not paying up.

The Commissioner's notice said that this year due to pandemic and considering several other financial factors, the annual five percent rebate was extended from April 2020 to July 2020. Despite these relaxation, 1,02,000 property owners have refused to comply.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

RIGOURS OF WFH: This Work From Home (WFH) stuff isn't such a hot idea. All that blarney about a man and his castle is flung to the winds as a siege is laid on the residence. And contrary to popular belief amid all this hooha being made about the pleasures of remote functioning most of us mere mortals do not live in six bedroom houses with a west wing where we can easily convert one of them into an office. We live in two or three rooms small enough to hurt a swinging cat, children, elderly parents, a couple of sundry aunts and an unfriendly part-time help who is doing you a favour by fetching up at all.

None of this is conducive to speaking with the boss and six colleagues all up to scoring points and currying favour. The great remote experiment is therefore in the long term becoming the equivalent of holding the family at gunpoint. Daddy and Mummy are working, this is the new normal, everyone silence, daddy has a concall, no Mummy cannot tell you a story just now, Mummy is talking to her office, migoodness, only three minutes to the countdown. So there is a great deal of shshsh-ing and dire warnings of don't even think of making a sound, the TV is banned, the pressure cooker dare not let out a whistle, the dog is gagged, and woe betide anyone ringing the doorbell and shut the door, no, I do not want tea, never mind the biscuits, I am talking to my boss.

Realistic porcelain flowers of Olesya Galushcenko

Odesa: If one looks at the beautiful bouquets of Ukrainian artist Olesya Galushcenko, it's hard to believe that all the flowers aren't actually real but made of hard porcelain.

A Hydraulics Engineer, Olesya Galushcenko got into porcelain flower making as a personal challenge. Seven years ago, during maternity leave, she decided to take on an artistic project that involved using her hands and a decorative flower bouquet caught her eye.

The artist was self-taught, so she refused to pay for classes and decided to learn the craft herself using free internet tutorials. But they only served to get her started, because she soon realized that polymer clay wasn't the right material for the degree of realism she wanted, so she decided to experiment herself and soon discovered that cold porcelain met her requirements.

Clarification sought on holding Co-op. Societies' AGM

Sir,

This has reference to special instructions in the wake of COVID-19 by the Assistant Registrar of Co-operative Societies (ARCS) to all Societies and Associations to get their audited statements and balance sheets ready by September and hold AGMs and submit the renewal applications before 31st December 2020.

Now already September is approaching and with the increasing incidents of Corona cases, and the conditions not to hold any group meetings, the Societies and Associations are helpless and cannot hold any physical Annual General Body Meetings (AGMs) as per Government instructions and it will be even difficult to submit renewal papers before December end.

It is in this connection whether we have to write to the ARCS and obtain permission for extending time even beyond this period. The concerned Department may issue notification clarifying the matter so that all the Societies and Associations could follow accordingly.

He said that Chamundeshwari temple will be open for devotees from 7 am to 1 pm and 3.30 pm to 5.30 pm on all days with usual sevas. However, there will be no Dasoha (mass feeding) for now, he said and added that darshan, pujas and other rituals will be held as usual from tomorrow, for which the temple priests and staff are making all preparations.

'Adoption of Animals' scheme at Mysuru Zoo completes 20 years

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

No one knew when Kumar Pushkar, the then Executive Director of the century-old Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens (Mysuru Zoo), launched a scheme on Oct. 27, 2001 to mobilise additional resources to the Zoo, it would one day hog national limelight.

The 'Adoption of Animals' Scheme launched by Pushkar, who is presently the Tourism Department Managing Director, has now become a novel programme for other Zoos across the country to mop up its resources.

It was so popular that any visitor who has love for birds and animals, never returns without adopting at least a small bird. This scheme came as a big breather for the Zoo when it was closed for over 60 days recently due to COVID-19. The funds, available under this scheme, was utilised on feeding of the captive birds and animals during this period.

So far, 4,600 people have adopted 5,895 birds and animals and had fetched Rs. 8,14,44,839.

It may be mentioned here that Co-operation and District in-Charge Minister S.T. Somashekar mobilised a record Rs. 3,48,04,918 from various individuals and institutions from Yesvantpur Assembly constituency, Bengaluru, which he represents, for Zoo maintenance during COVID lockdown. This is helping the authorities to maintain the Zoo despite dwindling tourists owing to Coronavirus.

This scheme is acting as a media for people to show their love and care towards birds and animals. Many of them seek information from the Zoo officials about the welfare of their adopted animals/ birds, or dial up the officers concerned in case of complaints about negligence in caring.

Initially it took time for the people to understand about this scheme resulting in low adoption numbers and the money earned out of it. Not losing heart, the Zoo authorities stepped up propaganda through media and hoarding within the Zoo premises. Several celebrities were roped in to popularise this scheme. International crickets from Karnataka, Anil Kumble, Javagal Srinath encouraged the scheme through adoption. They also brought in other cricketers like Zaheer Khan and Mahendra Singh Dhoni to go for the adoption scheme to contribute their mite for the progress of Zoo.

"This scheme will enable the Zoo visitors to show their love and affection through adoption of birds or animals. Through this they are helping in the conservation activities," opined a senior IFS Officer Manoj Kumar, who had served as Executive Director of the Zoo.

Maintenance cost

Ajit M. Kulkarni, the present Executive Director of the Mysuru Zoo, said this scheme helped a lot during the countrywide lockdown for over 60 days to take care of the inmates. The Zoo required Rs. 2 crore monthly towards the feeding, maintenance and salary of the staff. When tourists stopped visiting the Zoo due to COVID-19 scare, the District in-Charge Minister S.T. Somashekar mobilised Rs. 3.50 crore from the donors under the Adoption scheme.

ADOPTION DETAILS

Year	No. of Animals	No. of people	Amount
2001	8	7	Rs. 38,633
2002-03	26	20	Rs. 2.22 lakh
2003-04	65	43	Rs. 3.17 lakh
2004-05	93	67	Rs. 4.11 lakh
2016-17	364	303	Rs. 36.76 lakh
2017-18	374	351	Rs. 36.66 lakh
2018-19	543	443	Rs. 63.10 lakh
2019-20	491	401	Rs. 50.34 lakh
2020-21	820	607	Rs. 3.48 crore

Celebrities who have supported scheme

'Yoga Guru' B.K.S. Iyengar, KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar, former Indian cricketers Javagal Srinath, Anil Kumble, Zaheer Khan and Mahendra Singh Dhoni, Infosys Foundation Chairperson Sudha Murty, noted Kannada actors M.H. Ambarish, Darshan Thoogudeepa, Puneeth Rajkumar and Shivaraj Kumar.

'Zoos of Karnataka' Mobile Phone App

As Mysuru Zoo and Bannerghatta Biological Park function as autonomous bodies, they do not get any grants from the Government. The revenue earned by these two Zoos was supporting all the nine Zoos in the State. As the Zoos remained shut during COVID-19 lockdown, the revenue was stopped and it had become difficult to maintain these Zoos.

Hence, the Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK), on July 29 this year, launched a mobile phone application 'Zoos of Karnataka,' to enable people to contribute for conservation education, rescue, relief and rehabilitation of wild animals.

The app would be useful in online animal adoption and donations to all nine Zoos of Karnataka, for any amount starting from Rs. 50. It app also enables one to share adoptions and donations with friends.

Miscreants burgle two kg gold from house at Saraswathipuram

Mysuru, Sept. 2 (RK,SBD& KS)- No forcible entry, no ransacking of house or things, yet miscreants have burgled a large quantity of gold ornaments from a house on the 7th Main Road at Saraswathipuram on Monday night.

The burglary took place at the house of businessman Vijaykumar and the burglars have made away with two kilogram gold ornaments valued at about Rs. 1 crore. Ironically, the burglary took place when Vijaykumar's daughter was sleeping alone in the house.

Details: According to the statements provided by Vijaykumar to the Police, Vijaykumar, who had contracted COVID-19 (Coronavirus) had underwent treatment for the same at a hospital and had returned home just three days back. As his mother too had contracted the virus, Vijaykumar, along with his wife, on Monday night had taken his mother in search of a hospital to admit her leaving behind his 16-year-old daughter at home, who was sleeping in the ground floor of the house.

He has further told the Police that in a rush to admit his mother to a hospital, they had not locked the door of the first floor and when they returned at about 3.45 am on Tuesday and went to the first floor, they found the doors of the almirah kept in the room opened and immediately informed the Police.

Saraswathipuram Inspector Vijayakumar and staff, who rushed to the house, conducted mahazar and it was confirmed that the burglars had decamped with two kilogram gold ornaments that was kept in the almirah. Vijayakumar told the Police that the stolen gold ornaments included gold ornaments of relatives. He further informed the Police that all the gold jewellery were kept in the bank locker and as the bank was being shifted to other place, they had brought the gold ornaments kept in the bank locker to the house and had kept the same in the almirah. As he was undergoing treatment for COVID-19, he was unable to keep the gold ornaments in other bank locker.

DCPs Dr. A.N. Prakash Gowda and Geetha Prasanna and KR Sub-Division ACP Poornachandra Tejaswi visited the spot and conducted preliminary enquiry. Dog Squad & Finger Print Experts were also pressed into service.

Saraswathipuram Inspector Vijayakumar, who has registered a case, is said to be enquiring one on the relatives who had visited the house. House owner Vijaykumar is a realtor and the Police have suspected that someone who had observed Vijaykumar's movements may have committed the crime and the Police are investigating in all angles.

It is also suspected that the burglars may have climbed the terrace, entered the first floor through the window lintel and entered the house through the unlocked door. They (burglars) later entered the room and opened the almirah with the help of the keys kept in the room and decamped with the gold ornaments.

The burglars, who have not left any clues, committed the robbery in such perfection and without making any noise which could wake up Vijaykumar's daughter, who was sleeping in the ground floor.

Online order for liquor may soon be a reality

Bengaluru, Sept. 2- Days of placing order for liquor online may soon become a reality. Excise Minister H. Nagesh has said that a Committee headed by the Excise Commissioner Lokesh has been constituted to study the proposal and to submit a report on its pros and cons.

With this, the Minister has given a fresh lease of life to the proposal that was mooted by the Minister at the time of assuming office last year. But the idea was subsequently dropped in the wake of widespread criticism.

Talking to reporters here yesterday, he said that online sale of liquor was in vogue in Maharashtra, Punjab and other States. The Committee will visit those two States to study its functioning and then submit a report to him. Then it will be taken up before Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa for final decision.

"Some individuals hesitate to go liquor shops to buy liquor openly. It will be easy for them to place order online so that it is delivered at their doorstep. We are not in a hurry to implement it. It will be introduced only after the receipt of the Committee report".

Action: The Minister said that permission to re-open bars and restaurants, pubs has been given only after imposing strict guidelines and violation of it any sort will be dealt seriously.

The Department was expecting a daily income of Rs. 80 crore from bars and restaurants and pubs. For current fiscal, the Government has fixed a target of Rs. 24,000 crore for the Excise Department.

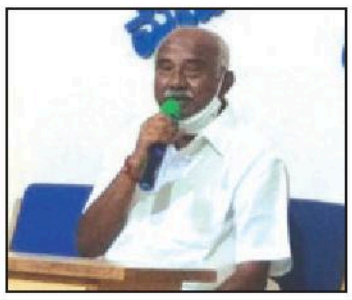
MLC urges Chief Minister to crackdown on drug abuse



MLC A.H. Vishwanath

Mysuru, Sept. 2 (MTY&DM)- Expressing concern over rising drug abuse in the State, MLC and senior BJP leader A.H. Vishwanath has urged Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa to take the issue seriously and order a complete crackdown on the alleged drug mafia operating in the State.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here this morning, Vishwanath said that the issue of drug abuse has once again come to the fore with revelations being made about alleged rampant drug abuse in the cinema industry.

Maintaining that youths from all sections of the society are falling prey to the devastating menace, he said that children from rich families are increasingly becoming victims of narcotic drug abuse.

Claiming that glorification of crimes, violence, crimes against women, rave parties, drugs and alcohol consumption and such other social maladies in cinemas is largely responsible for youth taking to unlawful activities, he opined that the society is getting more concerned about drug abuse, which has destroyed the lives of many youth, including the rich.

Citing the example of Punjab, which once reeled under rampant drug abuse menace, Vishwanath said that the State Government should set up a Committee comprising mental health experts, people representatives, community leaders, Legislators, etc. and depute the Committee for a tour of Punjab to study the measures taken there for cracking down on drug menace and mafia.

Stating that drug menace is destroying the spirit of the country from the very base, he urged the Government for ordering a total crackdown on the mafia and thus save the future of the younger generation from getting ruined.

MCC tax defaulters warned

"These defaulting tax payers will be given an ultimatum notice to pay the dues within 30 days starting Sept. 2 (today) failing which properties would be seized," the notice said.

Keeping the pandemic in mind, the State Government has given an opportunity to property owners to pay taxes till Oct. 31 without the two percent penalty. "Property owners are hereby requested to make use of this opportunity and pay taxes by Oct. 31 lest their properties are liable to be seized," the MCC Commissioner's notice stated.

As soon as the lockdown ended, people started lining up before the MCC Zonal Offices to pay their taxes and the revenue collection saw a spike in the last week of July. Property owners made use of the five percent rebate and remitted taxes.

However, the revenue generation slowed down after the initial spike worrying the already cash-strapped MCC. Till July 25, Rs.46.59 crore was collected from a total of 59,058 property owners. The numbers grew to 81,000 property tax payers with pending taxes from over 1,02,000 property owners.

MCC Deputy Commissioner (Revenue) Kumar Naik told Star of Mysore that the MCC will begin issuing individual notices to tax defaulters from tomorrow. "Along with this, we have formed teams for door-to-door tax collection where MCC officers and staff would visit each house and collect pending dues. At the same time, we will start the process to seize the properties after Oct. 31," he said.

Online system fails to take off

This year, the MCC had also promised that it will introduce online Property Tax payment system to enable property owners to pay tax from the comforts of their homes. But this ambitious scheme too is yet to take off. The MCC Commissioner wrote a letter to the Government on Mar. 27 seeking permission to introduce online tax payment system but there has been no response from the Government.

Also, it has come to the notice of the MCC that several traders in Mysuru are indulging in trade without obtaining Trade Licences. They have been asked to obtain the Trade Licences from the MCC after paying the prescribed fee. If they continue their business without Trade Licences, action would be taken against them under Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act.

However, all other taluks of the district were almost free from any damages as the wind speed and intensity of rains was less, according to CESC Superintending Engineer K.M. Munigopal Raju.

Meanwhile, the district recorded 41 mm rainfall on an average in the 12 hour period from Monday night till Tuesday morning, according to Organic Farming Research Station at Naganahalli in the Taluk. Rains may continue for the next three days.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells how to maintain good health of cows and deworming

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

How often should cattle be dewormed?

Young animals should preferably be dewormed every month using a suitable anthelmintic. Older animals can be dewormed at 4-6 months' intervals. A deworming schedule is very crucial for calves because mortality due to worms is very high. In places where heavy endo-parasite infestations are found it is advisable to deworm heifers twice a year up to two years of age. It is good to deworm adult females after parturition.

What is the best grain to feed cattle?

Barley is the best grain for feeding cattle, but wheat, triticale, sorghum, maize, lupins and oats can also be used. Oats is not an ideal grain on its own for feeding cattle, but can be used with any of the other grains. Hay or silage can be used as the roughage source.

What are the signs of a sick cow?

Eye problems: Cattle with eye problems may keep one eye shut and rub their face against fence posts, trees or rocks. The eye may appear cloudy when the cow opens it, and they may have a running, weeping discharge from one or both eyes. They may also seek shade under a tree and remain away from bright sunlight. Eye discharge may be a sign of an injury to the eye, or more commonly conjunctivitis or pink eye. This highly contagious bacterial disease among beef cattle can result in scarring of the cornea and even blindness if not caught and treated early.

Hoof problems: Cattle with hoof ailments will limp or favour one hoof over another. The hoof may appear hot, swollen or cracked. If you can get near enough to handle your animal, or if you can get your cow into a chute for inspection, you may be able to examine the hooves. Pus or any type of discharge must be treated immediately.

Skin lesions: It's normal for cows to have an occasional patch of skin showing. It's the same thing among cattle as a scraped knee is among people. But lesions across the back, or circular patterns, can indicate ringworm, rain rot or other fungal infection that can make your cow miserable.

Respiratory problems: Coughing, wheezing, mucous discharge and similar signs can all point to respiratory problems. Common respiratory infections include viral infections.

Neurological problems: Cattle that stagger should be immediately investigated. These animals may be suffering from a severe neurological problem. Some cattle lie down and are unable to get up. Neurological problems may be caused by microorganisms or dietary deficiencies brought about by grazing on greens that are deficient in minerals. Poisonous plants may also be to blame, or grazing on land that has a high proportion of arsenic or lead in the soil. Other signs of a sick cow include weight loss. Unexplained weight loss may be due to a heavy parasite load or dietary deficiencies.

How to maintain good health of my cows?

Maintain a good health programme — keep up-to-date with vaccinations and deworming throughout the year. Certain vaccines for your cows may only need to be given once a year, whereas with deworming more applications per year may be necessary. See your vet for best vaccinations and de-worming products that are best for your cows.

Is it true that cows have four stomachs?

A cow has four stomachs and undergoes a special digestive process to break down the tough and coarse food it eats. When the cow first eats, it chews the food just enough to swallow it. The unchewed food travels to the first two stomachs, the rumen and the reticulum, where it is stored until later.

How can diseases in cattle be prevented?

Diseases can be prevented through good herd management, proper nutrition and vaccinations. Cattle should receive specific vaccinations, such as vaccinations for anthrax, Infectious Bovine Rhinotracheitis (IBR) and the surroundings around the cattle should be properly sanitised. Feed should be placed in troughs that cannot be contaminated by faeces, and waterers should be kept clean and free of contaminants. Treatment should be followed by chemoprophylaxis to prevent reinfection.

Vaccines may be used to prevent infection, if suitable vaccines are available.

Prompt and proper disposal of manure and other filth from the farm premises.

Regular scrubbing and cleaning of feed and water troughs as well as whitewashing their interior at least once in a week.

Levelling up all ditches, low marshy areas, pits etc., in and around animal houses so that water may not stagnate in them.

Elimination of parasites from the host at the most appropriate time by use of antiparasiticides thereby preventing contamination.

Eggs of ticks and mites deposited in cracks and crevices in the walls, floors and wood work of the animal houses, should be removed periodically.

How to maintain appetite of my cows?

Stay Consistent: Cattle are creatures of habit. Be sure to keep your feeding routine on track morning and night. This same routine should be followed.

Provide Clean Water: Water is the most important nutrient and it is directly tied to feed intake. Cows should have access to clean water at all times in order to maintain optimal health.

Provide Roughage: Cattle are ruminants, and roughage play an important role in keeping their digestive system healthy.

Shikra... The Leopard of Birds

Shikras — Accipiter badius, in Taxonomical terms, the urban raptor, a bird of prey, a small but fierce predator, is likened to the Leopards of the Cat family, owing to their fierce and brutal hunting techniques, blended with intelligence and strategy, exactly like the Leopards.

The urban treetops, specially the leafy canopied trees like Mango, Neem and Mahogany, attract and play host to the Shikras nest. Shikras are known for their specialised hunting skills. Each hunt is strategically planned, depending on the prey species. These Raptors also develop a preference and taste for particular prey. Some like songbirds, some like garden lizards (Othiketha or Hentegodha in Kannada). A few Shikras have also been observed and documented for having a high taste for bats, yes, bats, the flying mammals, specially the small ones, roosting in the daytime under rafters and canopies in urban areas.

The Shikra is a magnificent bird. The males are grey in the upper body and a dull whitish colour on the underside, with unique red coloured eyes. The females on the other hand are lightly coloured, and slightly bigger than the males, with yellow coloured eyes, like the one in the picture here.

The magnificent birds, with a high adaptability to preying habits, working a strategy for each hunt, calculatedly hunting and succeeding in more than 75 percent of attempts. The biggest threat the Shikra faces now is the poisoned and killed rodents thrown in open places. The poison in the carcass kills the bird.

The familiar, often heard from tree tops, Tickeeeee... Tickkkeee.... Tickee repeated, often heard in large trees in parks and gardens, is the Shikra, co-ordinating a hunt with its mate or parent.

Though the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) regards it as safe, the vulnerability to their being poisoned by the baited rodents, is a major threat to the birds.

PHCs silently serving community sans publicity

Due to COVID, people availing service outside the PHC in Bannimantap.

The PHC on Chamundi Hill Main Road.

By M.B. Pavan Murthy

Mysuru, Sept. 2- At a time when health has become priority for one and all, Primary Health Centres (PHCs) are silently serving the community without publicity. These health units, spread across the city and district, are doing yeomen service by addressing health issues of common people free of cost.

Over 25 programmes under National Health Mission are being implemented for the benefit of people through the PHCs. As many as 21 PHCs are working within the city limits of which five of them are engaged in containing COVID-19. Each PHC has to look after the health of 50,000 population. A junior health assistant is appointed for every 10,000 population. The duty of health volunteers is to visit houses daily to collect details of pregnant women, lactating mothers and children below five years of age.

Each PHC has to take care of pregnant women in their jurisdiction by taking them to the nearby scanning centres to watch growth of the foetus. At least a dozen varieties of tests are conducted on a pregnant woman regularly. Even after the delivery, health of woman and newborn is regularly monitored by junior health assistants and vaccinations administered to infants till five years of age.

The COVID-19 test is conducted in all PHCs including those ones on the Chamundi Hill Main Road and Bannimantap (Hanumanthanagar) on all days except Thursday and Sunday between 10 am and 1 pm. Rapid Antigen Test is conducted on suspected cases.

As part of COVID duty, nurses visit Containment Zones not only to create awareness among people but also conduct mandatory test of BP, sugar, cancer, stroke and communicable diseases on senior citizens. Each PHC has four to six beds where treatment is given. For additional treatment, patients are shifted to nearby hospitals through the 108 ambulance. Every PHC has doctors, lab technician, staff nurse, junior female health assistant, junior male health assistant. Barring the doctors, staff nurse and lab technician, the rest must work on the field and upload details on RCH portal.

The State Government has honoured the Bannimantap City

PHC, Mysuru, for offering best service to people during COVID situation. In 2018-19, this PHC had bagged the first runner-up award in Mysuru district level. Dr. H.L. Lokesh, Health Officer of the PHC, has taken a lot of interest in conducting COVID-19 test and addressing the health issues of community. Though a number of ASHA workers attached to this PHC reported Corona positive, they still continued to carry on with their duty after recovery. As a precaution,

The staff at work in the lab of Chamundi Hill Road PHC.

Despite pressure due to COVID-19, still our PHC is offering all free services to people. Though this is an additional burden on our staff we are managing it."

— Dr. T. R. Naveen, Health Officer, Chamundi Hill Main Road PHC

medical services are being offered to the needy outside the PHC due to COVID-19 threat.

Talking to SOM, Dr. Lokesh said, nearly 50 per cent of the staff is on Corona duty. But still the mandatory works such as survey and regular healthcare are attended. While the Urban PHC on Chamaraja Double Road had won the maiden 'Kayakalpa' district-level award in 2018-19, the third prize had gone to Chamundi Hill Road PHC.

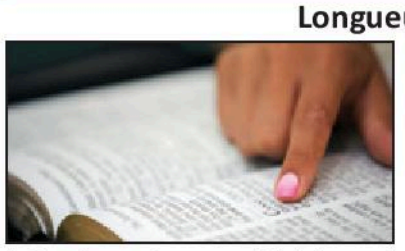
WORD OF THE DAY

Longueur



Pronunciation: lawn-GUR.
Meaning: A dull and tedious passage or section (as of a book, play, or musical composition) — usually used in plural.
Origin: You've probably come across long, tedious sections of books, plays, or musical works before, but perhaps you didn't know there was a word for them. English speakers began using the French borrowing longueur in the late 18th century. As in English, French longueurs are tedious passages, with longueur itself literally meaning "length." An early example of longueur used in an English text is from 18th-century writer Horace Walpole, who wrote in a letter, "Boswell's book is gossiping; . . . but there are woful longueurs, both about his hero and himself."
Example: The otherwise crisp pacing of the movie is marred by some unnecessary longueurs that do little to advance the main story.

THE ODD WORD

Lachrymose

Shedding tears.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Lightning never strikes the same place twice

Meaning: An unusual event or situation that's unlikely to happen again to the same person.
Origin: The origin of this idiom most likely comes from a myth—one that says lightning never strikes the same place twice.
Dark clouds fill the sky, flashes of bright light accompanied by the booming sound of thunder can be heard for miles—a storm approaches! In the blink of an eye, lightning descends from a cloud and strikes a spot on the ground, but will that same spot ever be hit again? Not according to the myth mentioned above, but contrary to what this proverb says, lightning can hit the same spot twice. It is said that every second, lightning strikes the earth's surface about 100 times. With that in mind, I'm going to make an analogy: Have you ever heard of darts? It's a game where players throw a bunch of, uh... darts at a board and they score a certain amount of points depending on where they land. Well, it would only be a matter of time before a dart lands on the board in the same location as another dart. Similarly, then, with so much lightning hitting the surface of the earth, it would only be a matter of time before it struck the same place twice (or very close to it), even if the odds of it happening are unlikely.

QUOTE BOX

The trouble ain't that there is too many fools, but that the lightning ain't distributed right. —Mark Twain
